JAPAN

(Japon—Nippon—Japón)

Japan consists of the five large islands viz. Hondo (the Japanese mainland), Hokkaido, Shikoku, Kiushiu (Tane) and Formosa, together with several smaller groups of islands. The total area of the Japanese Empire is 260,000 square miles and the population at the 1920 census was 64,450,005.

The population is in a large extent engaged in agriculture, a great variety of agricultural products being produced. One of the leading industries for which Japan is justly famous is the rearing of the silkworm and the spinning and weaving of silk. Other industries include cotton spinning and weaving, paper making, lacquer work, the manufacture of sugar and camphor oil, and ship-building.

Japan is a constitutional monarchy, and the Emperor exercises the supreme executive and legislative powers with the assistance of Ministers appointed by himself. The legislature consists of a House of Peers and a House of Representatives.

The chief products found consist chiefly of gold, silver, copper, lead, iron and coal. Other mineral products, such as antimony, manganese, nickel and salts of iron, and the metallic substances, namely petroleum, sulphur, kaolin, asphalte and marble, are found.

The principal exports are raw silk, cotton manufactures, silk manufactures, mixed vegetable fibres, coal, copper, tea, tinned provisions and paper. The principal imports are raw cotton, iron, wood, oils, wool, machinery, silk-cotton, wheat, beans and peas, and sugar.

The Japanese Embassy in London is at 10 Grosvenor-square W.1, the Chancery of the Embassy is at 9 Belgrave-square S.W.1.

Trade and Japanese Consular offices in the following places in the British Isles:—

FORMOSA

(Formose—Taiwan—Formosa)

The island of Formosa was ceded to Japan by China in 1895. The area is 13,807 square miles, and the population at the 1920 census was 4,035,457. The chief agricultural products are rice, tea, sugar, fruits, nuts, jute, camphor, camphor oil etc. The chief mineral products are gold, silver, copper, coal, sulphur and salt. The two principal ports of the island are Keelung and Takao.

ANPING, see TAKAO & ANPING.

DAIRENBU (or TOKIWA), a sister town adjoining the capital, with a population of 34,821, in the district of the same name. The latter part of the name is now officially used in preference to Dairen by Japanese writers, although the Chinese name, which refers to a nearby port, is still among the best known, as the cheapest routing through the Suez Canal.

TAKAO and ANPING (Taiwan), South Formosa, is the chief commercial port of the island, 45 miles from Tainanshu, with a population of 57,000 (1915). Chief belongings, tea and camphor, which are largely shipped from Keelung, Kobe and Takao.

Tainanshu, on the north, is connected by rail with the ports of Takao (80 miles) and Keelung (20 miles), there are electric lights and steam tramways and the principal international foreign firms are represented. Population, 144,274 (1915). Chief belongings, tea and camphor, which are largely shipped from Keelung, Kobe and Takao.

Takao is now the largest export port, owing to the opening of the outer harbour. The anchorage is sheltered by the islands of Takao and Formosa, is usually an open roadstead, exceptionally protected by the position of the adjacent islands and the north-east monsoon. The bulk of the trade is with Chinese and Japanese ports.

Tamsui, situated at the mouth of the Tamsui river, distant 12 miles by rail from the capital of Taihoku, is a small place, with only 1,000 of a population, but has a fine harbour, and some of the largest steamers can enter the river. Population, 21,000.

Keelung, 20 miles by rail from Taihoku, is the principal port of the island, and has a population of 20,000. The harbour is fine, and is the largest port in the island, but the small area of the basin, and the number of the harbour causes many inconveniences to shipping. It is the principal port for coal bunkering and foreign vessels. Population, 20,000.

The principal exports are: Camphor, camphor oil, coal, tea, sugar, Formosan Formosa, rice, camphor oil, etc. The island is rich in mineral products, especially coal, gold, silver, copper, sulphur and salt. The two principal ports of the island are Keelung and Takao.

The principal imports are: Cotton goods, oil, coal, iron and steel, timber, rice, sugar, fish, paper, machinery, etc. The chief exports are: Camphor, camphor oil, coal, tea, sugar, fruits, nuts, jute, cotton, timber, rice, sugar, fish, paper, machinery, etc. The chief

KWANTUNG (Liaotung Peninsula)

The Kwantung Leased Territory comprises the lower portion of the Chinese Peninsula of Liaotung, and has an area, including islands, of 1,303 square miles. In 1905 Japan obtained a 25 years' lease of the territory, and in 1915, as a result of the Twenty-one Demands, this was extended to 99 years. By Article 3 of the Treaty of Peace with Japan, signed at San Francisco on September 8, 1951, the Japanese renounced all rights, title and claim to the Kwantung Leased Territory, and the territory is now administered by the Chinese.

Originally, the lease of the territory was to expire in 1923, subject to the conclusion of a mutual agreement, but by Article 1 of the treaty concluded at Peking between Japan and China, the lease of the Kwantung Territory was extended to 99 years.

The capital of the Kwantung Leased Territory is Ryojun, and the seat of the Government is at Port Arthur.

The chief crops cultivated are maize, kaoliang, millet, beans and rice. Fish is considered one of the main resources, Dairen is the principal centre of a large and growing industry. Cement is also produced.

The population of the Kwantung Leased Territory is over 500,000.

DAIREN, formerly known as Dalny, is a commercial port of Japanese construction on the middle of the Kwantung Peninsula. In 1939 Dairen was the chief of the open ports of China in the Chinese Maritime Customs Annual Trade returns; in 1939 it was the third, being only exceeded by Shanghai and Tientsin. The population of the city and suburbs at the census taken on November 30th, 1940, was 551,000, comprising 439,000 Japanese, 108,000 Chinese, 3,000 Koreans and 677 foreigners.

The chief imports are cotton goods and cotton yarn, sugar, flour, coke, timber, kerosene, machinery, motor and railway materials.

At Shakahe, three miles from Dairen, the South Manchuria Railway has established the most up-to-date workshops in the Far East. The workshops have a capacity of 1,000 locomotive repairs annually and an annual output of 50 locomotives, 50 passenger cars and 500 goods wagons, and in addition the workshops have a foundry, saw mills, cooking machinery &c., built for the own company and outside orders.

There is a British & Dairen Chamber of Commerce.

GUATEMALA

(Guatemala)

The Republic of Guatemala is situated on the Pacific and Atlantic coasts of Central America. It has an estimated area of 42,276 square miles, with 1,365 miles of coast on the Atlantic and 199 miles on the Pacific. The population is estimated at 1,846,000, consisting of white and Indian. Guatemala City, the capital, is connected by railway with the port of San José on the Pacific, and with Puerto Barrios and Livingston on the Atlantic.

Large quantities of excellent timber are to be found in the whole forests all over the Republic. In the former are the cedar, mahogany, ebony, walnut, cherry and many other fine and hard woods; copper also and salt in the mountains. Limited minerals in the departments of Totos.

The raising of minerals is carried on on a small scale although the country is rich in minerals.

The Commercial Secretary for Guatemala in London is at 11 Queen Victoria street E.C.4, and there are Consular Officials at the following places in the British Isles:—

Consul-General.—Liverpool and Manchester.

Consuls.—Cardiff, Dublin, Glasgow, Grimsby and Southampton.

Vice-Consuls.—Belfast, Glasgow.

The British Army Commissary and Shipping Department is at Guatemala. There is a British Consul at Quezaltenango and there are British Vice-Consuls at Coatzacoalcos, Puerto Barrios and Tapachula.

During the year 1921 imports amounted to £1,167,241 sterling and exports to £1,317,333 sterling.

The proportion of certain countries in the trade with Guatemala during 1921, is shown in the following table:—

EL SALVADOR

The area of this Republic is 13,176 English square miles and the population is estimated at 1,057,000. Although the smallest, Salvador is one of the most enterprising and advanced of the Central American Republics. It possesses no coast line on the Atlantic.

The Consulate-General in London is at 8 Union court E C 3.

There is a British Consul at San Salvador and Vice-Consuls at Acajutla and San Salvador.

ACAJUTLA (Dept. of Sonsonate), a port handling the coffee exported by railway with the town of Santa Ana, 28½ miles (3 trains weekly) and the capital, San Salvador (37 miles). It is naval rendezvous of the steamers of the Compagnie Générale Transatlantique (French Line); Hamburg-American (Kosmos) Line; Pacific Steam Navigation Co; and Pacific and Central American Mail Steamship Co. Regular lines are also maintained by the English Mail Steamers, Pacific Steam Navigation Co, and the Royal Mail Steam Packet Co, while trade with Europe, Ecuador, Panama and Peru is largely in the hands of Germans. Coffee exports are principally for Europe, Bunting chartered for the English speculators, followed by Scandinavian, French and U.S.A. Mail. The passenger for the U.S.A. is usually selected. The only bank is a branch of Bank of London.

NICARAGUA

[illegible] area of this Republic is about 49,200 English square miles, and the population is about 400,000.

The Atlantic coast of the Republic extends from the Segovia to the Rio San Juan, with a length of 300 miles. It includes three great rivers—the Rio Segovia or Coco, the Rio Grande of Matagalpa, and the Rio San Juan.

The coast on the Pacific extends from the Bay of Fonseca to Salinas, a length of 190 miles. The Bay of Fonseca, the port of Corinto, of San Juan del Sur, and the Bay of Salinas offer excellent and well-protected harbours for shipping.

The climate of the Republic is about the same as that of the adjacent parts of Honduras, and in the principal ports of entry on the Atlantic coast. Light wines are not to be obtained except at Managua, for good, native and imported. There is communication from Greytown with New Orleans by steamers of the Colon Development Co., and American Fruit Co. Aspinall maintains regular and fast steam Corinto at intervals of about ten days, and European shipments of merchandise are usually made via that port. Exports: Bananas, coffee, rubber, mahogany, cabinet and turtle shell and hides. Population about 1,000.

The Republic of Honduras contains approximately 47,000 English square miles, and has a population estimated at 400,000. It has a coast line of nearly 400 miles on the Caribbean sea, on which the chief ports are Trujillo, Puerto Cortés, Omoa, Ruatan and La Ceiba. On the Pacific side is a short length of coast-line on the Gulf of Fonseca, with the chief port, Amapala. The country is mountainous, and the climate is cold, except in low-lying areas.

AMAPALA, on Tigre Island, Fonseca bay, estimated (population, 1,500). It is the only port on the Pacific coast of Honduras accessible to ocean-going steamers. Being the capital and southern port of Honduras (though the small port of San Lorenzo, situated on the Gulf of Fonseca, is nearer the capital), it has a large importing and produce trade, and in 1906 was credited with 30,000 sacks of coffee. Steamers of the Pacific Mail Steamship Co., Pacific Mail Navigation Co., Kosmos, Roland and Hogg lines call at this port.

PUNTA ARENAS, Puerto [illegible] (pop. 4,000) situated on the Gulf of Nicoya, on the Pacific coast of Costa Rica | 117 kilometres (about 80 miles) from San José, the capital, to which it is connected by the Transcontinental Railway, a Government owned and operated railway. Puerto Arenas is now equipped with a modern pier, which was recently opened to traffic. The port is now taking an equal importance with that of Limón on the Atlantic coast, and imports in increasing quantities are coming into the district via Punta Arenas. The latter continues to maintain its trade as the principal port for the export of coffee, mahogany, rosewood, fustic wood, brazil wood, sarsaparilla and rubber.

PANAMÁ

THE Republic of Panamá (established in 1903) occupies the Isthmus of the same name, and lies between the Caribbean Sea, on the North, and the Pacific Ocean on the South. The chief ports are Colon and Bocas del Toro on the North and Gulf of Panamá on the South. There is a railway between Colon and Panamá 47 miles in length. The area is about 32,380 square miles and the population according to the 1920 census, 467,459.

Under the terms of the treaty made in 1904 between the United States and the Republic of Panamá, the latter ceded to the former certain rights over a strip of land 10 miles wide, through which the Canal passes. In return the U.S.A. guarantee the absolute independence of Panamá, and pay an annual rental for the Canal Zone.

There are Consular officials for Panamá at the following places in the British Isles:—

MONTERREY (Nuevo León) is the capital of the state and has a population of 191,000 (1921). It is the most important manufacturing center in the Republic, and a large trade is carried on.

In the neighborhood of Monterrey are many rich deposits of coal, iron, copper, lead, zinc, antimony, gold, silver, etc. Iron ore, especially, is found in the vicinity of a high mountain called "La Silla," which is a prominent landmark.

Monterrey is the center of the Mexican railway system, and is the junction point of the Mexican Central, Mexican National and International railroads. It is also the terminus of the Monterrey & Gulf Railroad, which has its own line to the port of Tampico, on the Gulf of Mexico. There is a Mexican Customs House in Monterrey.

Monterrey is the seat of the Autonomous University of Nuevo León, founded in 1859, and has a medical school, a law school, a school of engineering, a school of commerce and administration, (Escuela Superior de Comercio y Administración), and a school of pharmacy.

DIXIES

INDIVIDUAL PAPER DRINKING CUPS

Dixies are used everywhere because they are sterile, convenient and practical. Shaped like a glass they are convenient—used only once they are sanitary, low in cost they are practical, for use in offices and shops, railway trains and stations, theatres and all amusement places, bars, clubs and public houses. They are made in all practical sizes, of paper or Dixilite—a new substance that is resistant, handsome, made in attractive colors, and that keeps drinks cold longer. Automatic machines for dispensing are available with or without coin slot. Dixies are also used for packing ice cream and other foods in attractive, individual packages, sealed with tight-fitting lids. Samples, descriptive and illustrated printed matter and prices will be sent on request addressed to Department K.

1. Typical shape of Individual Dixies and the complete dispensing system. White with blue or choice of three colors.

2. Dixie with lid for storing, ready to drink in individual packages.

WALKER'S PACKINGS & JOINTINGS

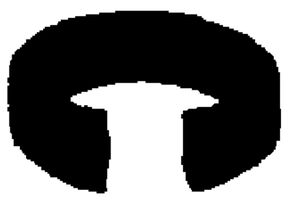
"LION" EXPANDING TYPE



The pre-eminent Packing for High Pressure Steam and High Speed Engines. This Packing is economic in action and the anti-friction metal used obviates friction.

"LION" STEAM HAMMER TYPE

This Packing is manufactured specially for Hammer-work. It will keep a gland perfectly tight, irrespective of the severe shocks and other heavy duties to which it is subjected.

"GOLDEN WALKERITE" JOINTING

The popularity of this Compressed Asbestos Jointing is universal, due solely to its high standard of quality. Where dependability is vital, "Golden Walkerite" is the material to use. Supplied in sheets and cut joints.

The Emblem of Quality

THE PHILIPPINES

(Philippinas—Filipinas)

The Philippine Islands are a group situated in the northern portion of the East Indian Archipelago, Manila, the capital, being about 600 nautical miles south-east of Hong-Kong. They comprise a land area of about 114,000 square miles, with a population in 1903 estimated at 10,000,000. Two of the islands, Luzon, in the north of the group, and Mindanao in the south, are by far the largest. The general system of intercommunication among the numerous islands of the Philippines is undeveloped, but local services maintain under Government supervision. The principal ship and port is Manila, in the island of Luzon; the other ports open for trade here are Iloilo, in the island of Panay; Cebu, in the island of Cebu; Batangas and Tayug, in the island of Mindanao; Jolo, in the island of Jolo, and Legaspi in Luzon.

Imports during the year 1901 amounted to 108,911,000 pesos, and exports to 107,944,000 pesos.

The principal articles of export were sugar (29,000,000 pesos), Manila hemp (28,000,000 pesos), cocoanuts oil (20,000,000 pesos), tobacco (14,000,000 pesos), and timber (4,000,000 pesos).

The principal articles of import were cotton goods (30,000,000 pesos), iron and steel products (9,000,000 pesos), mineral oil (6,000,000 pesos), provisions, flour and grain (5,000,000 pesos), and chemical goods (3,000,000 pesos).

More than 60% of the trade was with the United States of America, the remainder being chiefly with Japan, Great Britain, China and Germany.

CALBAYANE is an important port and the capital of the province of Albayan on the island of Mindanao. The principal products are sugar and philippine. Population, 12,000.

CEBU (Zebu), on the Island of Cebu, 30 miles from Manila, has a population of 206,000. It is the most important port of the Visayan group, being the most central and having the best harbour and docks. The Province of Cebu, which is practically composed of the island of Cebu, is the most thickly populated in the Philippine Islands, having a population of [illegible] 1,000,000 people. The Cebuano Mission works from this port.

Manila being the first, is largely owing to its position as a distributing centre, but is only exceeded by Manila, while its exports is practically even with Iloilo, the third city in the islands. The principal exports are cocoanuts oil, hemp, tobacco, sugar and copra.

ILOILO, on Iloilo, on the Island of Panay, the fourth Spanish Port of entry, has a population of 54,000. It is an important port, being the capital port of the Visayan group, and, therefore, is one of the most widely populated and industrious provinces. The harbour is excellent, being completely protected by an island which lies immediately before it.

The principal trade of the port is the export of sugar to the United States and sugar to Europe and the United States.

THE TERRITORY OF HAWAII

(Territoire d'Hawaï—Territorio de Hawaï)

THE TERRITORY OF HAWAII was annexed by the U. S. America in 1898, and forms one of the Territories of that Republic. It is situated in the North Pacific, between latitudes 18° and 29° north and longitudes 154° and 160° west, and consists of a group of eight islands (Hawaii, Kahoolawe, Kauai, Lanai, Maui, Molokai, Niihau and Oahu) of which Honolulu is the capital, is situated on the island of Oahu. The total area of the group is about 6,449 square miles, and the population 255,912 (1920 census).

Sugar is by far the most important article of export. Other exports are bananas, pineapples and other fruits, coffee, molasses, honey and hides and skins. The principal imports are food products, textiles, timber, paper, manufactured goods of divers kinds, machinery and chemicals. Nearly the whole of the trade is carried on with the United States of America.

HONOLULU, the capital, county seat and port of entry of the Territory, is situated on the island of Oahu, with a population of 102,207 (1920). Railway, Oahu Railway & Land Co.

THE ARGENTINE REPUBLIC

The Republic has an area of 2,987,155 square kilometres and had a population at the end of 1932 of 11,658,717 (Provisional figures).

The soil is of a very fertile character, and this, combined with an excellent climate and various altitudes, gives conditions suitable for the cultivation of all types of agricultural produce.

Transport facilities in the Argentine Republic are the best in South America. The railways are well administered and give a passenger service which for comfort and luxury is unsurpassed. The length of railway is 40,000 kilometres.

Land under cultivation is about 27 million hectares. This, however, represents only a small percentage of the area classified as suitable for cultivation, approximate figures being:

THE CAPITAL

With a population of over two million, magnificent streets, public and private buildings, parks, gardens and beautiful plazas, it is the most important city in the Continent of South America and the most prosperous city in the Southern Hemisphere.

The "Star Wheat" of South America, with its complete, modern and rapidly increasing fruit, dairy, industrial and outdoor sporting areas, and all within a few hours' motor run of the city, is the envy of visitors which number eighty per cent. of the total population [illegible] of the whole continent of South America.

SANTA FÉ, capital of the province of the same name, is a city of about 14,000 inhabitants, situated on the left bank of the Salado, and is the centre of a very fertile grazing district. The principal exports are hides, horns, quebracho wood and extract, bran, flour, hay, bides, tallow, grease and vegetable oils. Despite the silting of the river, the port has a good trading. There are facilities for handling any class of cargo—vessels up to 20 feet.

BOLIVIA

(Bolivia—República Boliviana)

The State of Bolivia is a land-locked, quadrilateral territory, bounded on the west and north on the west by Peru, on the south by Chile and Argentina, and on the east by Brazil and Paraguay. The population at the end of 1911 was estimated at 1,944,000 souls, of which over half are of pure Indian blood.

The natural wealth of Bolivia is very great; the plateau and the valleys abound in rich mineral deposits, and the latter are also the seats of valuable agricultural products, while rubber and other products of the forest are obtained in large quantities from the eastern territories.

Gold, silver, copper, tin, lead, oil, iron and bismuth are the principal ores and the tin industry is important.

The Bolivian Legation in London is at 31 Grosvenor place, S.W.1.

The Bolivian Consulate-General is at the same address, and there are also Consular officials at the following places in the British Isles:—

Consul-General, Liverpool.

Consuls—Aberdeen, Birmingham, Cardiff, Dover, Dublin, Edinburgh, Falmouth, Glasgow, Hull, Liverpool, Manchester, Newcastle-upon-Tyne, Southampton, Swansea.

Vice-Consuls—Glasgow, Liverpool, Manchester.

The British Legation is at La Paz.

Consul-General, La Paz.

Consuls—Oruro, Sucre.

Vice-Consuls—La Paz, Potosi.

During the year 1911 imports amounted in value to £1,337,000 Bolivianos, and exports to £1,972,000 Bolivianos.

The following were the principal imports during 1911:—

	Bolivianos.
Wearing apparel, food, stores, copper, sheet-iron, machinery	[illegible]

The following were the principal exports during 1911:—

	Bolivianos.
Tin	[illegible]
Silver	[illegible]

RIO DE JANEIRO — THE CAPITAL

Lavishly endowed by Nature, cared for and protected during its growth, there has emerged the wonder city of the world.

The haunting beauty of its boulevards, gardens and palaces, the sumptuousness of its hotels and theatres, the blaze of illumination extending through the city, round the bay and up the mountain sides, have made Rio not only the Tourist Centre of South America but the goal of travellers from both hemispheres.

This unrivalled display of all that is beautiful and costly is not only a direct outcome of the inexhaustible resources of the country; it is emblematic and inspires confidence in a still greater future.

THE STATE OF BAHIA

The State of Bahia has an area of 559,579 square kilometres, being approximately the same size as France. Population 4,432,812. The capital is Bahia (or São Salvador) with a population of 351,648. There are 16 cities, of which the principal are Feira de Sant Anna, Cachoeira, S. Felix, Alagoinhas, Boninfim, Santo Amaro and Ilheus

Industries of the State are principally agricultural, especially important being the cultivation of Cocoa, Tobacco, Coffee, Cotton, Sugar and Cocoanuts. Mineral production comprises Gold, Iron, Manganese and Copper, whilst the Industrial Diamonds of Bahia are world famous. The manufacture of Cigars and Cigarettes also plays an important part in the industrial life of the State.

Exports consist chiefly of Cocoa, Tobacco, Coffee, Hides, Skins, Piassava, Diamonds & Carbons, Medicinal Roots, Oil Seeds, Rubber, Manioca, Ourieury, Babassu, Carnauba Wax, Pulse, Horns, Copahyba, Ipecac, Fruits, Ipecacuanha.

Imports are principally Textiles, Jute, Yarn, Hardware, Metals, Rope, Gasoline, Cement, Provisions, Drugs and Chemicals, Paints, Flour, Codfish and Jerked Beef.

BAHIA, the capital, is situated in a large and well-sheltered bay, navigable by the largest transatlantic liners, vessels from all parts of the world calling here.

The Quays are under the control of the Cia Cessionaria das Docas do Porto da Bahia, space for loading, discharging and coaling of vessels being as follows Wharves 208 metres in length for small coastal boats and sailing vessels. Wharves 1028 metres in length for ocean going vessels and large coastal steamers. Minimum draft of water alongside (L.W.S.) eight metres. Eight warehouses in use occupy an area of 16,600 square metres, yards between warehouses 7,880 square metres. There are twelve cranes with lifting capacity of from three to five tons and a floating crane with 100 tons capacity

NAVAL, capital of the state of Rio Grande do Norte, with a population of 12,000. It stands on the south side of the river Rio Potengy, about one mile from the coast. The port, the entrance to Natal, has been much improved, and is now also used as a coaling port, and the trade by the Government; it is a port of call of the mail steamers of the Royal Portuguese Steam Navigation Co. and has a depth of 22 feet and can even admit large ships when the tide is high. There is a very church and it is largely and well built. Steamers to about 12 tons draught can lie alongside the quays. The ports of Macaiba and Assu are intermediate coast ports. The chief exports are sugar, salt, cotton and hides.

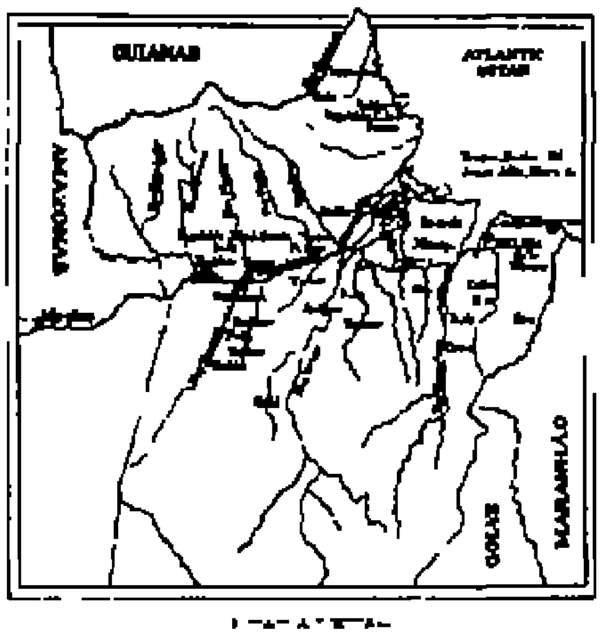
THE STATE OF PARÁ

One of the largest states in the North of Brazil, having an area of 1,140,712 square kilometres and a population of 1,375,845 inhabitants. Combined with a flourishing commerce are numerous important industries, principal among which are the manufacture of rubber goods, textiles, jute and hemp, ivory buttons, fruit canning &c. there are also a large number of modern factories for the shelling, sorting and packing of the famous Brazil Nuts.

Principal exports consist of nuts (shelled and unshelled) rubber cocoa, vegetable oils and seeds hides and skins of animals and reptiles, cereals fibres, roots and medicinal herbs, cocoa beans, and a great variety of timber for constructional work, sleepers &c. There are large pasture lands exclusively suitable for cattle breeding.



Immigration has been continuous, concessions having been granted to the Cia. Fred Industrial do Brasil, who are principally interested in the plantation of rubber and to the Cia. Nipponica de Plantações do Brasil for the cultivation of cereals.

The State is administered by the official of the Brazilian army Major Joaquim de Magalhaes Cardoso Barata, occupying the post of Federal Interventor

Owing to the numerous reforms which have been introduced together with the rigorous fiscalisation of collections and the cutting down of all superfluous expenses, unanimously supported by the public the Intervention has been enabled to obtain a budget receipt of Rs 12,240 contos (over £400 000 for the year 1913, all of which has been honourably applied to the service of the State

YERBA MATE. (Yerba mate—Yerba maté.) Yerba mate is the dried leaf of the Ilex paraguayensis, which grows wild in the forests of Paraguay, Brazil and Uruguay, and is also cultivated. The plant grows to a height of 20 feet, and has a smooth bark and evergreen leaves. The leaves are gathered in the months of May and June, and are dried over a fire. The dried leaves are then ground into a powder, which is used to make a beverage.

ARICA, in the province of Tarapacá, Republic, about 4,000.

This port is 140 miles south of Tacna, with which it is connected by railway. Arica is the principal commercial town, with banks in the south and Europeans in the north. It is the chief commercial centre for the Bolivian province of Arica, with a trade largely composed of goods in transit. Large quantities of wool, hides, bark, quinine, coca, rubber, cocoa, coffee, cinchona, &c., are brought from Bolivia, Peru and the north of Argentina, and exchanged for European goods and mining stores in Bolivia, being principally sent by the Arica and Potosí Railway to Viacha (Bolivia), on the Antofagasta and Oruro Railway. Bolivia has a free zone at Arica, and the Bolivian Government has a railway agent here. Arica is the port for mining districts in the interior of the province of Tarapacá, and for the nitrate and mining centres in Bolivia, being connected with Oruro, Sucre, La Paz, Potosí and Cochabamba in Bolivia, and Tupiza in the Argentine Republic, by railway from Viacha. Arica is also connected by railway with Tacna, in the south, and Puno, in Peru, and by steamer with Mollendo, Callao and ports in Ecuador and Central America. It is the chief port of entry for the Bolivian trade, and a free zone of 10 square miles has been granted to Bolivia for the importation of goods for Bolivia and exportation of Bolivian produce. Imports of all kinds, especially provisions, wines, spirits, cotton goods, hardware, machinery, coal, timber, &c. Exports of the Bolivian produce mentioned above, gold, silver, tin, copper and bullion.

THE REPUBLIC OF COLOMBIA

By reason of its exceptional position in the northern part of South America, with valuable coastlines both oceans (1,600 kilometres on the Atlantic and 1,300 kilometres on the Pacific), Colombia offers the best possible opportunities for the investment of foreign capital which will find lucrative employment in the development of such promising fields, Precious Minerals and Petroleum, of which there are immense deposits, as well as very large areas of Government lands in climates varying from a temperature of 32° to 60° centigrade (from 90° to 37°) suitable for the cultivation of rubber, cotton, tobacco, and all kinds of tropical products as well as wheat, potatoes, fruits and all agricultural products of the temperate zone.

The laws to mining are the most favourable possible for attracting foreign investments, owing to the great facilities for acquiring mining rights and the low level of taxes. The best of the unpatented Government lands (public domain), with their climates ever-varied to suit every country, excellent opportunities to become landowners without expense, in this new country of marvellous prospects and immense possibilities.

In the world Chronicle reads that for the production of Wild Coffee and Ipecacuanha, and takes second place for the production of Rubber while in South America it is the largest producer of Gold and Platinum, and the second largest of Petroleum.

TOURIST TRAFFIC. For tourists who desire to appreciate the thrills of the unusual, who take an interest in history and art, there is much in Colombia to appeal to their sympathies. The old cemeteries where the giants of the dead and gone epochs still lurk, the names of their settlers, the old towns the scene of so much gallery during the Spanish colonial times, as well as many places sacred to the memory of the great Bolivar and his colleagues who established the independence of the country are features that should not be overlooked. The volcanic nature of some parts of the country has provided it with a great abundance and variety of hot and medicinal springs of untold value.

The scenery which varies from the wild mountain crags and gorges to that of the lovely plains and undulating country will appeal to everyone while the climate, by reason of the mountainous nature of the country has a range of variety that is perhaps unique.

Hotels are generally good and clean and serve meals which are wholesome and moderate in price. There are of course first class hotels in practically every town of any importance.

Except in the very wildest parts of the country Colombia may be said to be free from insect pests.

Fruits and flowers are abundant and delightful varying with the altitude and the climate.

The country folk are happy hospitable, hardworking and strive all courteous and hospitable.

AIR-LINES. AIR PASSENGER SERVICE. Colombia possesses in the SCADTA an unrivalled service of air-planes with connection for all the principal cities in the country, carrying passengers and mail with the minimum of delay and speed, and having direct connection with the Pan-American Air-Ways for foreign mail and passenger traffic.

PARAGUAY

The trade of Paraguay is favourable to the cultivation of all the tropical and many temperate products. Sugar-cane grows well, and large quantities of excellent rum are distilled. Cotton of fine quality is grown, and the cultivation is increasing. Tobacco is also a staple product. The chief cultivation, however, is that of the yerba, or Paraguay tea, which grows wild in the forests, and is largely exported. The chief imports are cotton goods, woollen goods, machinery, hardware, and other articles of iron, clothing and provisions, wines, confectionery, and other articles of food. The chief exports are yerba tea, tobacco, timber, hides, cattle, horses, sheep, skins, extract of quebracho, and cotton, cereal and pulse seed.

The affairs of the Paraguayan Church of Africa and Central America in London is in Jewish report Vol.

There are the Paraguayan Consular officials at the following places in the British Isles:—

Consuls—Birmingham, Bradford, Cardiff, Glasgow, Liverpool, Manchester, Southampton.

There is a British Consul of Africa and Consul at London.

The imports during the year 1901 amounted to 10,000,000 gold pesos, and the exports to 12,000,000 gold pesos.

The chief exports during 1901 were:—

	Gold pesos.
Quebracho extract ...	4,000,000
Hides (dried and salted)	1,000,000
Meat extract	1,000,000
Cereal seeds	1,000,000
Jaborandi leaf	500,000
Tobacco leaf	500,000

PERU

(Pérou—Perú)

THE Republic is bounded on the north by Ecuador and Colombia, on the east by Chile and Bolivia, and on the west by Brazil. The coast line extends for about 1,500 miles and the area is estimated at 696,000 square miles. The population, according to estimate in 1906, amounted to 4,527,000 inhabitants.

The mountain ranges of the Andes run from east to west of the country at a distance of about 200 miles from the Pacific coast. Most of the rivers rise in the mountains and flow through the country in a general direction, generally in a north-easterly direction, and fall into the Amazon. The principal products are sugar, wool, cotton, rice, coffee, cocoa, bark, rubber, timber and oils. The principal wealth of the country is in minerals, gold, silver, and copper. Silver, gold, and bronze coinage is in circulation, but the paper currency is not convertible, and is at a considerable discount.

The Peruvian Legation in Great Britain is at 143 Eaton Square, London, S.W., where is also the Peruvian Consulate-General in London.

There are Peruvian Consular officials at the following places in the British Isles:—

Consuls-General.—Dublin, Liverpool.

Consuls.—Belfast, Birmingham, Bristol, Cardiff, Edinburgh, Glasgow, Hull, Leith, Manchester, Newcastle-on-Tyne, Newport (Mon.), Plymouth, Queenstown, Southampton.

Vice-Consuls.—Aberdeen, Bradford, Cardiff, Dundee, Glasgow, Hartlepool.

The British Legation is in Lima, and there are British Consular officials at the following places in Peru:—

Consuls.—Iquitos, Lima.

Vice-Consuls.—Arequipa, Callao, Lima, Mollendo, Payta, Salaverry.

The principal exports are bullion of gold, silver, copper, petroleum, sugar and its by-products, wool and hides.

La Compañía Uruguaya de Cemento Portland Artificial (Montevideo)
Lafarque Hnos. (Jules Gand & Jules)

MONTEVIDEO is a port in the Republic of Uruguay, and the capital of the Department of the same name, situated on the north shore of the Rio de la Plata, 120 miles from the Atlantic Ocean. It is the seat of the Republican Government, and the chief port of the country, and possesses a fine harbour, which is protected by a breakwater 2,400 yards long, and has a depth of water sufficient for vessels of large burden to lie alongside the quays. The principal exports are hides, wool, tallow, horns, bones, and jerked beef. The imports are chiefly manufactured goods, coal, and timber. The city is well built, and contains many handsome public buildings, including the Cathedral, the Government House, the Municipal Palace, the Custom House, the Exchange, the Mint, the Opera House, and the Solis Theatre. The streets are wide and regularly laid out, and are lighted with gas. The city is supplied with water from the Rio Santa Lucia, by means of waterworks erected at a cost of £1,000,000. Montevideo is the seat of a British Consul-General, and of Consuls for the United States, France, Germany, Italy, Belgium, Spain, Brazil, Portugal, Sweden, Austria-Hungary, Russia, Holland, Switzerland, Chile, Peru, Denmark, Greece, Paraguay, Bolivia, Ecuador, Venezuela, Costa Rica, Nicaragua, Honduras, Mexico, Haiti, and Dominica.

Vice-Consul.—Leonidas, (U.S. of)
